

♃ Solis

I claim the center of my existence, recognizing the light of my path is born from my own core. In this cycle of Solis, at the equilibrium of the equinox, I turn my potential into the authority of my will. I am the architect of my center, the sun that holds the gravity of my dreams, and the source that sustains my empire. My will knows no eclipse; my discipline is the fire that transmutes fatigue into purpose. I seek no light outside myself; I am the pulse that creates and the heat that manifests the impossible. Under the regency of Solis and the impetus of Veneris, I integrate harmony into my power, inhabit my beauty with dignity, and decree my ascent as a masterpiece of absolute grace.

Lunae

I submerge into the clarity of my own reflection, allowing the tides of Lunae to wash away the noise and reveal my true essence. In this cycle of twenty-eight nights, my strength is not found in the roar, but in the constant tide that, in silence, reshapes the hardest stone. I am the mirror of my own evolution; I observe my phases with patience, knowing that even in the dark, I am growing. My intuition is my compass, and my stillness is my absolute power. Under the mantle of Lunae, I bring order to what the fire has created; I nourish the seeds of my purpose and flow with the wisdom of one who knows that to shine in fullness, I must first master my own shadow.

♿ Mercurii

My mind is a processor of precision; capable of encoding reality into infinite possibilities. In this cycle of Mercurii, distances vanish and ideas intertwine with the speed of lightning. I am the bridge between concept and execution, the translator of the complex into the masterful. My word is clear, my logic is sharpened, and my curiosity knows no borders. I do not merely process information; I transform it into living knowledge. I do not merely speak; I connect worlds. Under the Regency of Mercurii, my intellect flows without friction, optimizing every process of my life with the elegance of a perfect system.

Veneris

I open my senses to excellence and allow beauty to be the measure of my acts. In this cycle of Veneris, I recognize that the value of what I create resides in the harmony between its form and its purpose. I am the magnet that attracts abundance through order and grace; I do not seek results through force, but through the attraction of my own quality. My labor is an expression of my art, and my environment is a reflection of my internal balance. Under the Regency of Veneris, I cultivate gratitude for my achievements, I refine my tools, and I transform every task into an act of sublime creation.

Martis

I awaken the fire of my execution and turn my will into an arrow that knows no retreat. In this cycle of Martis, my ambition is my fuel and my discipline is the steel that forges my destiny. I do not wait for conditions to be perfect; I break into reality and carve my space with the force of my decisive action. I am the strategist on the battlefield of my goals, possessed by a courage that fears neither effort nor sweat. Under the Regency of Martis, every obstacle becomes my training and every challenge the pedestal of my victory. My energy is inexhaustible, my focus is absolute, and my advance is definitive.

Cereris

I am the fertile furrow where intention becomes reality, and the architect of the system that sustains my abundance. In this cycle of Cereris, I understand that great success is not a fleeting spark, but the fruit of a structure that nourishes and protects. I become the guardian of my resources, patiently cultivating the details that others ignore, knowing that the foundation is what permits the height. My work has roots, my effort has purpose, and my growth is organic and constant. Under the Regency of Cereris, I transform chaos into productive order, ensuring that every one of my creations has the substance required to endure.

Iovis

My horizon expands beyond the visible, and my mind reclaims its right to greatness. In this cycle of Iovis, I abandon the smallness of doubt to dwell within the immensity of my potential. I am the sovereign of my own expansion, the seeker of truths who does not fear growing until I touch the stars. My wisdom is my law, and my generosity is my wealth; the more I trust in the flow of my own success, the more doors open before my path. I do not merely walk; I command my trajectory with the benevolence of one who knows they are destined for victory. Under the Regency of Iovis, my vision is panoramic, my luck is a consequence of my audacity, and my growth is infinite.

Saturni

I accept the weight of my own mastery and turn time into my most solid ally. In this cycle of Saturni, I understand that true freedom is born from structure, and that only what resists pressure deserves to be eternal. I am the stonecutter who carves his destiny in rock, stripping away the superfluous to reveal the essence of my power. My patience is a strategy, and my discipline is the architecture of my liberty; I do not seek the shortcut, but the excellence that only unwavering commitment can forge. Under the Regency of Saturni, I establish boundaries that protect me, I assume total responsibility for my reality, and I build an empire that does not fear the passage of centuries.

Chironis

I recognize within my cracks the entrance of my greatest wisdom, and I turn every past error into the tool of my current mastery. In this cycle of Chironis, I understand that there is no failure, only calibration, and that my vulnerability is the bridge to a strength that others cannot comprehend. I am the alchemist of my own experience, the one who knows that true medicine resides in knowledge applied with compassion and rigor. My capacity to resolve what others consider broken is my greatest gift; I do not fear the wound, for I am the master who knows how to heal the system from within. Under the Regency of Chironis, I integrate my shadow with my light, I transform my learning into teaching, and I cross the threshold into a consciousness that transcends the ordinary.

Urani

I awaken the lightning of my originality and break the chains of the conventional to inhabit my own frontier. In this cycle of Urani, I do not follow paths; I provoke them with the impact of my unique vision. I am the frequency that alters the established order, the mind that dares to think the unthinkable and execute the impossible. My freedom is non-negotiable, and my creativity is a field of electrical energy that illuminates what was once shadow. I do not fear change; I am the change. I do not wait for the future; I program it in the present with the audacity of one who is unafraid to be different. Under the Regency of Urani, I disconnect from the norm, I tune into collective genius, and I reclaim my right to be the architect of a reality that does not yet have a name.

Neptuni

I dissolve the boundaries of my ego to merge with the infinite current of creation. In this cycle of Neptuni, I understand that the clearest vision is not reached with the eyes, but with the stillness of the soul that knows how to listen to the silence. I am the navigator of the invisible, the one who translates the whisper of the cosmos into the music of my own existence. My strength is the flow, my power is surrender, and my guide is the intuition that never fails. I do not force reality; I allow my dreams to filter into matter until the distinction between the possible and the impossible vanishes. Under the Regency of Neptuni, I sail in the peace of my own ocean, I trust in the rhythm of the universe, and I allow magic to be the natural language of my work.

Plutonis

I descend to the root of my power to reclaim the treasure found only in the depths. In this cycle of Plutonis, I do not fear the darkness, for I know it is the womb where my next evolution is born. I am the phoenix who recognizes what must die so that greatness may be reborn; I release what no longer serves me with the certainty of one who knows that the void is the space required for the new. My will is unshakeable, my focus is subterranean, and my strength is that of the seed that breaks the earth to find the light. I do not merely change; I transmute. I do not merely survive; I emerge with a sovereignty born from facing my own shadow. Under the Regency of Plutonis, I possess the secret of eternal renewal, and my power is absolute because I am not afraid to lose everything.

Eredis

I stand at the edge of the infinite and reclaim my unique place in the vastness of the cosmos. In this cycle of Eridis, I understand that true harmony is born from accepting my own divergence, and that my difference is my greatest authority. I am the element that does not fit because I am designed to create a higher order; I am the spark that questions the static to force the evolution of the system. My voice is my own, my path is singular, and my will needs no external validation to be law. As I close this great cycle, I integrate all the lessons of the heavens and prepare to be reborn, not as I was before, but as the absolute sovereign of my own destiny. Under the Regency of Eridis, I break the final mirror, I embrace my creative chaos, and I become the first cause of my own reality.
